

STEVEN SCOTT

Steven Scott has been making quite a name for himself these days as one of the hot rising young comedians working today. This delightfully talented performer, who got his start goofing off for friends and family while growing up in the suburbs of the Big Apple, finally let them convince him to take his shenanigans on stage. Since doing so, he has made it to the point where he can now say he gets paid money doing the same exact stuff that used to get him in trouble when he was a kid.

Like a perfect mix between Jerry Seinfeld and Jim Carey, Steven's comedy combines clever observations of his everyday life with his amazing ability to imitate just about anything, from celebrities to musical instruments. Steven's ability to incorporate vivacious characters, dead on impressions, and lifelike sound effects into his act brings a third dimension to his standup that is delightfully fresh.

Especially impressive though is Steven's tasteful brand of humor and his ability to captivate audiences with universal appeal. This has gained him tremendous popularity, not only in the comedy clubs, where he is a regular at some of the hottest venues in the NY and LA comedy scene, but throughout the world where he performs for cruises, colleges, country clubs, festivals, and showrooms everywhere from Atlantic City to the Las Vegas Strip.

Major corporations and organizations often hire him as the entertainment for their conventions and special events. He has even gained the attention of some of the world's most legendary musical headliners, from Tom Jones to Donna Summer, who have enjoyed using him on the bill.

He has been showcased multiple times at the world famous Montreal "Just for Laughs" comedy festival, and currently serves on the Board of Governors of the famous Friars Club where he's performed, produced and participated in numerous club events. Recently Steven had the prestigious honor of Roasting Legendary funnyman Jerry Lewis at the club's annual Roast where many other celebrities from Robert DeNiro to Nathan Lane were also participants.

In addition to his personal appearances, Steven's work continues earning him numerous radio and television appearances. He's can often be seen on VH-1 series' like "I Love the 90's." He was a Semifinalist on the hit CBS show "Star Search," and has also appeared on various other programs for NBC, FOX, Comedy Central, MTV and more. He has performed on the Jerry Lewis MDA Telethon and proudly, served as a co-host of the annual Leukemia Society telethon in NY. He's also a co-host of a 26 channel interactive Internet programming site called MyEverything.com

Beyond his standup comedy, Steven actively pursues the acting side of his career. Recently he co-starred in the critically acclaimed theatrical comedy "The Fartiste" which earned Best Musical at last years NY Fringe Festival. He has worked on a number of commercials, independent films, and has even appeared in a couple of major Hollywood blockbusters... but mostly in the "cutting room floor" scenes. He does tons of Voice Over work, for TV, commercials and video game characters. He has even had two studio holding deals... one of which was for Warner Brothers where he appeared as a series regular in a pilot for a hip sketch comedy show -- co-starring supermodel, actress and talk show host Tyra Banks and comedian and recent Academy Award Winning actor Jamie Foxx.

So whether it is on the stage or on screen, all in all, Steven Scott is a multi-talented performer whose high energy, charming creativity, and tasteful brand of humor make for a thoroughly entertaining experience that never fails to leave his audiences wanting more. To check out more about Steven, including video clips and photos, you can visit his website at www.StevenScott.tv.